HANDS-ON LYCHEE AIRLAYERING FIELD DAY

Registration is required

UH CTAHR's Cooperative Extension, the Hawaii Tropical Fruit Growers and Mā'ona Community Gardens invite you to participate in a hands-on lychee airlayering field day for commercial orchard crop growers.

Lychee (Litchi chinensis) are typically propagated by airlayer, otherwise called marcottage. Event participants will learn about lychee propagation, care, and will prepare their own airlayers to take home at a later date. View additional event details at the webpage link above.

Registration fee: $30 per person

Pay at check-in;
cash only

30 participant limit

Most airlayering supplies provided

Bring clean, sharp pruning shears & standard slip-joint pliers
