Statistics on Egg Prices Honolulu, May 2025

Egg prices in the Honolulu retail market retreated lower in May 2025 compared to the previous month. The benchmark price for a dozen large, locally produced conventional eggs dropped 5.6% to $9.04 while the price of conventional mainland eggs declined by 16.5% over the same period. Prices for larger quantity cartons (18-count), experienced a similar declining trend of 3% and 17.2%, respectively, for locally produced and imported eggs.

Likewise, the price of locally produced organic eggs dropped 6.7% from $12.07 to $11.26 per dozen. The price for mainland-imported organic eggs declined steeper by 14.9% to $8.29 per dozen. The price range for both local and mainland-sourced organic eggs widened in May, reflecting greater variability in product offerings. According to the USDA’s Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), the national index for wholesale price of large, white shell egg declined sharply in late February and stabilized from late March through April 2025 (see Chart 1).
